"The Mud Bug"

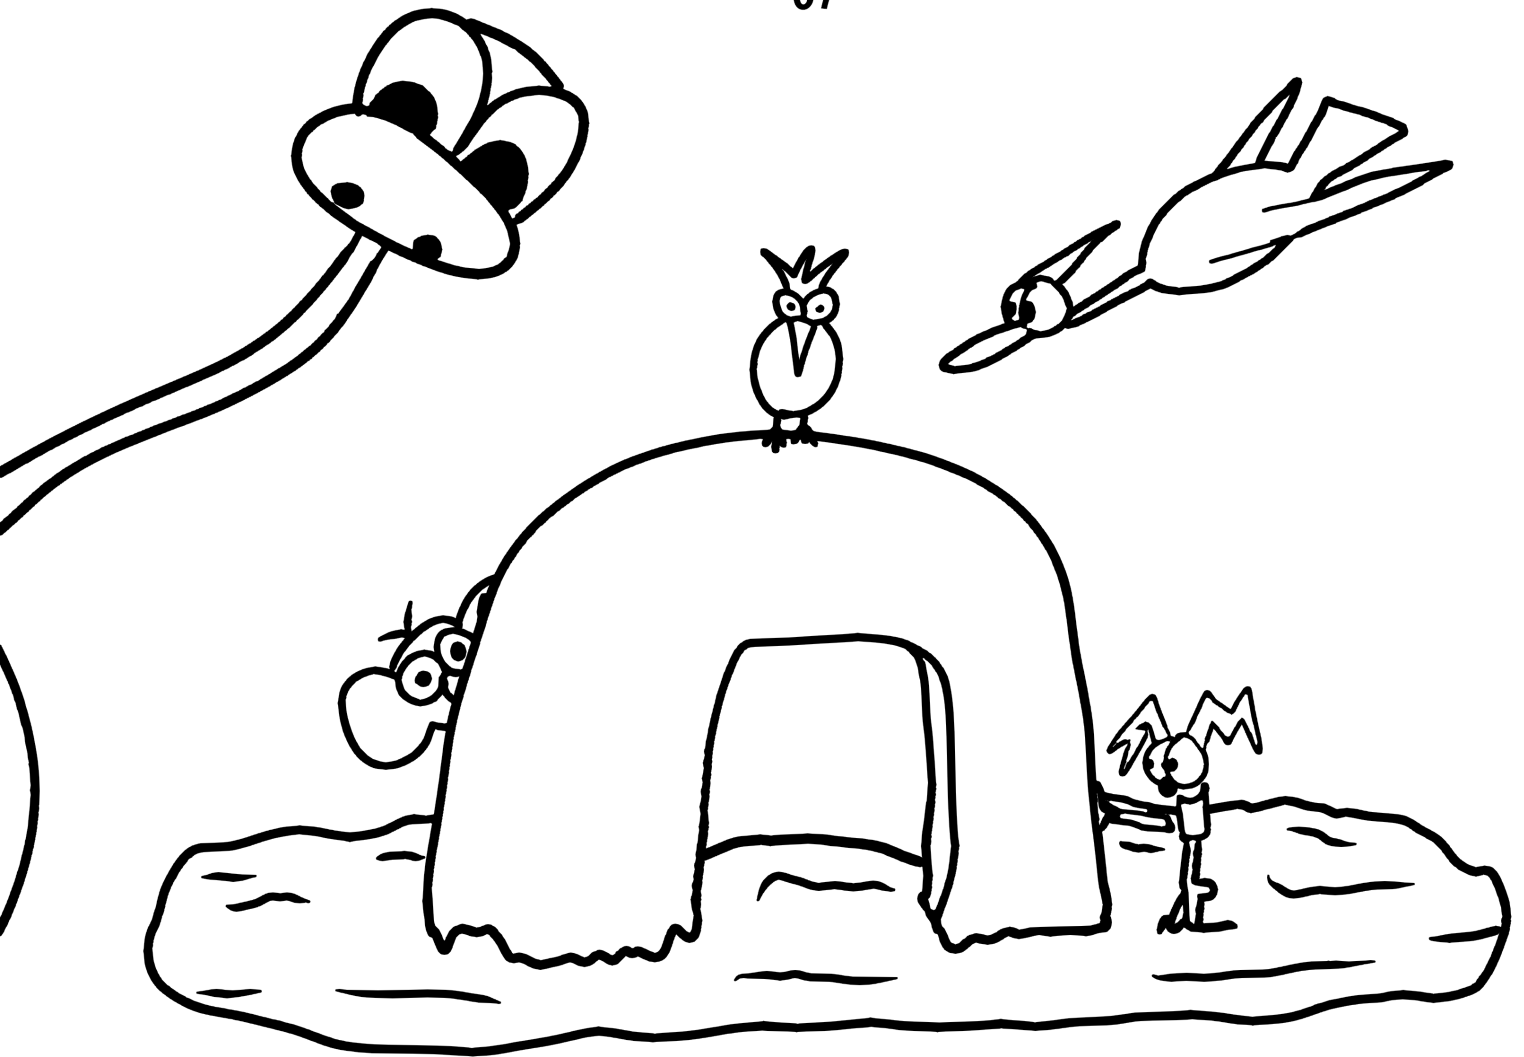

short u

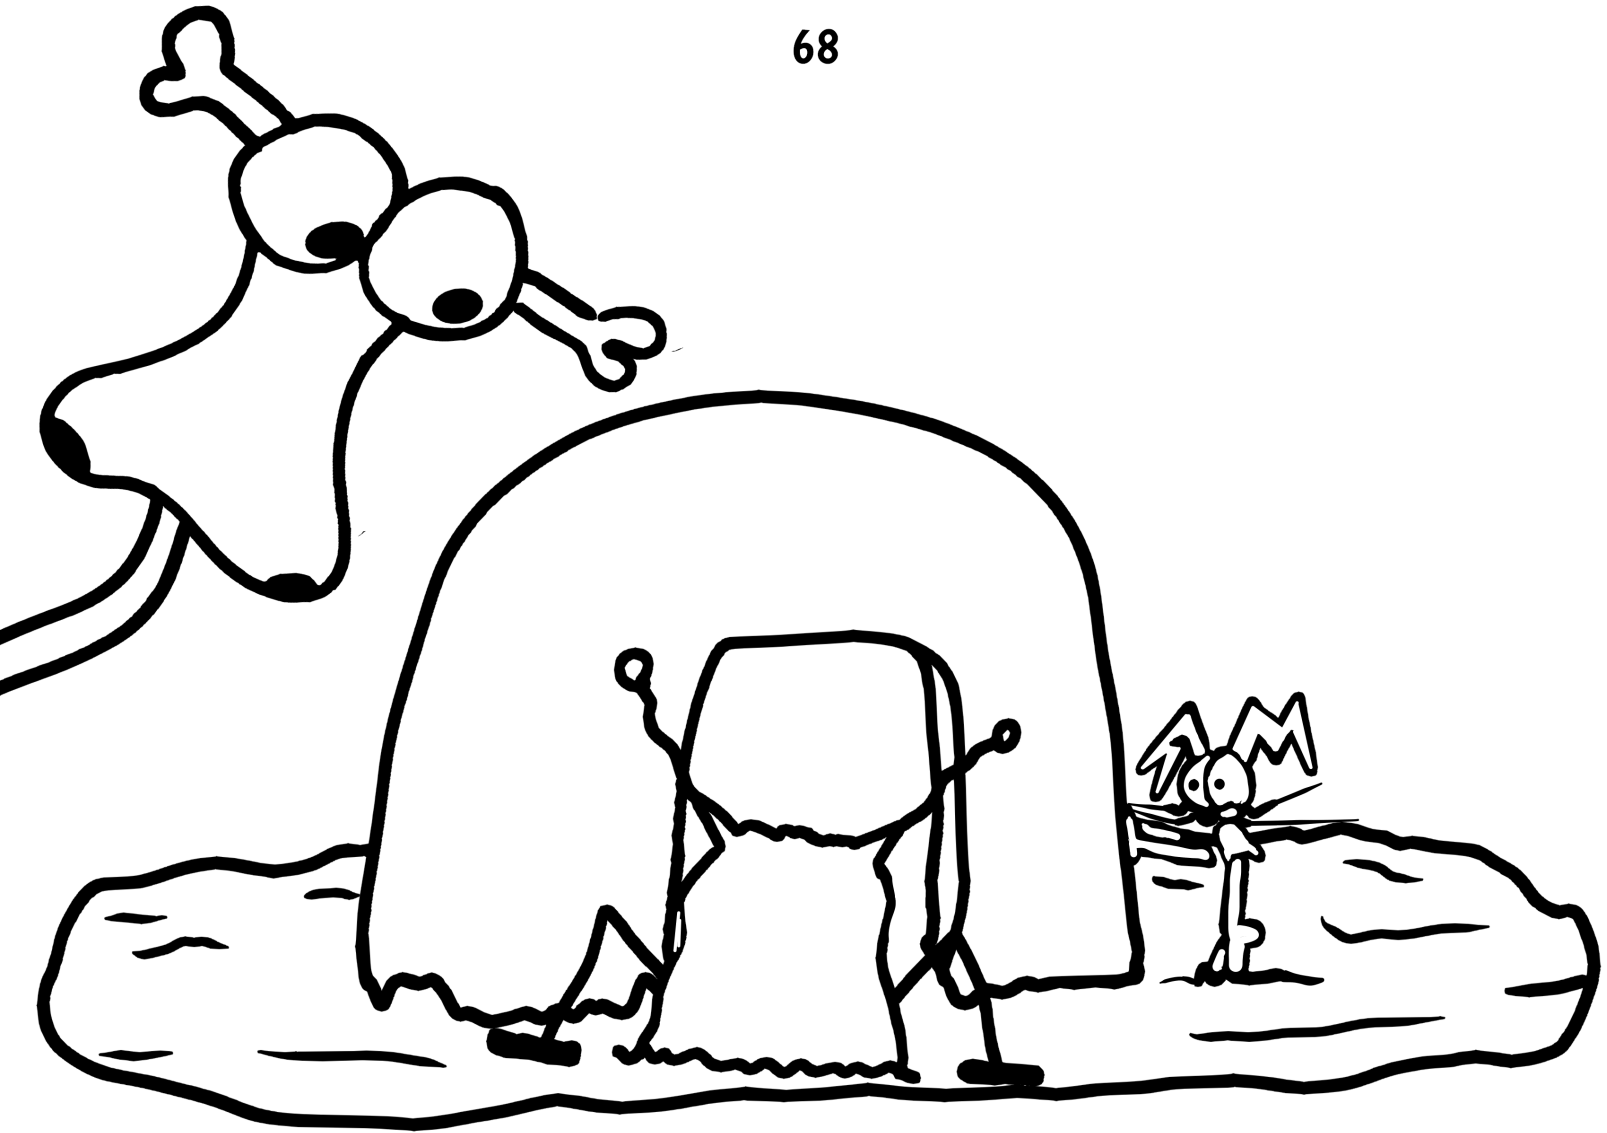

consonant - vowel - consonant

One fine day in the sun:
Rat The Cat dug a hole in the mud. It was a mud hole. Rat got into the mud hole. It was fun! Rat dug, dug, and dug. It was so fun!

Rat made a hut in the mud. It was a mud hut. It was so much fun that Rat had to hum. It was a fine, fine day.

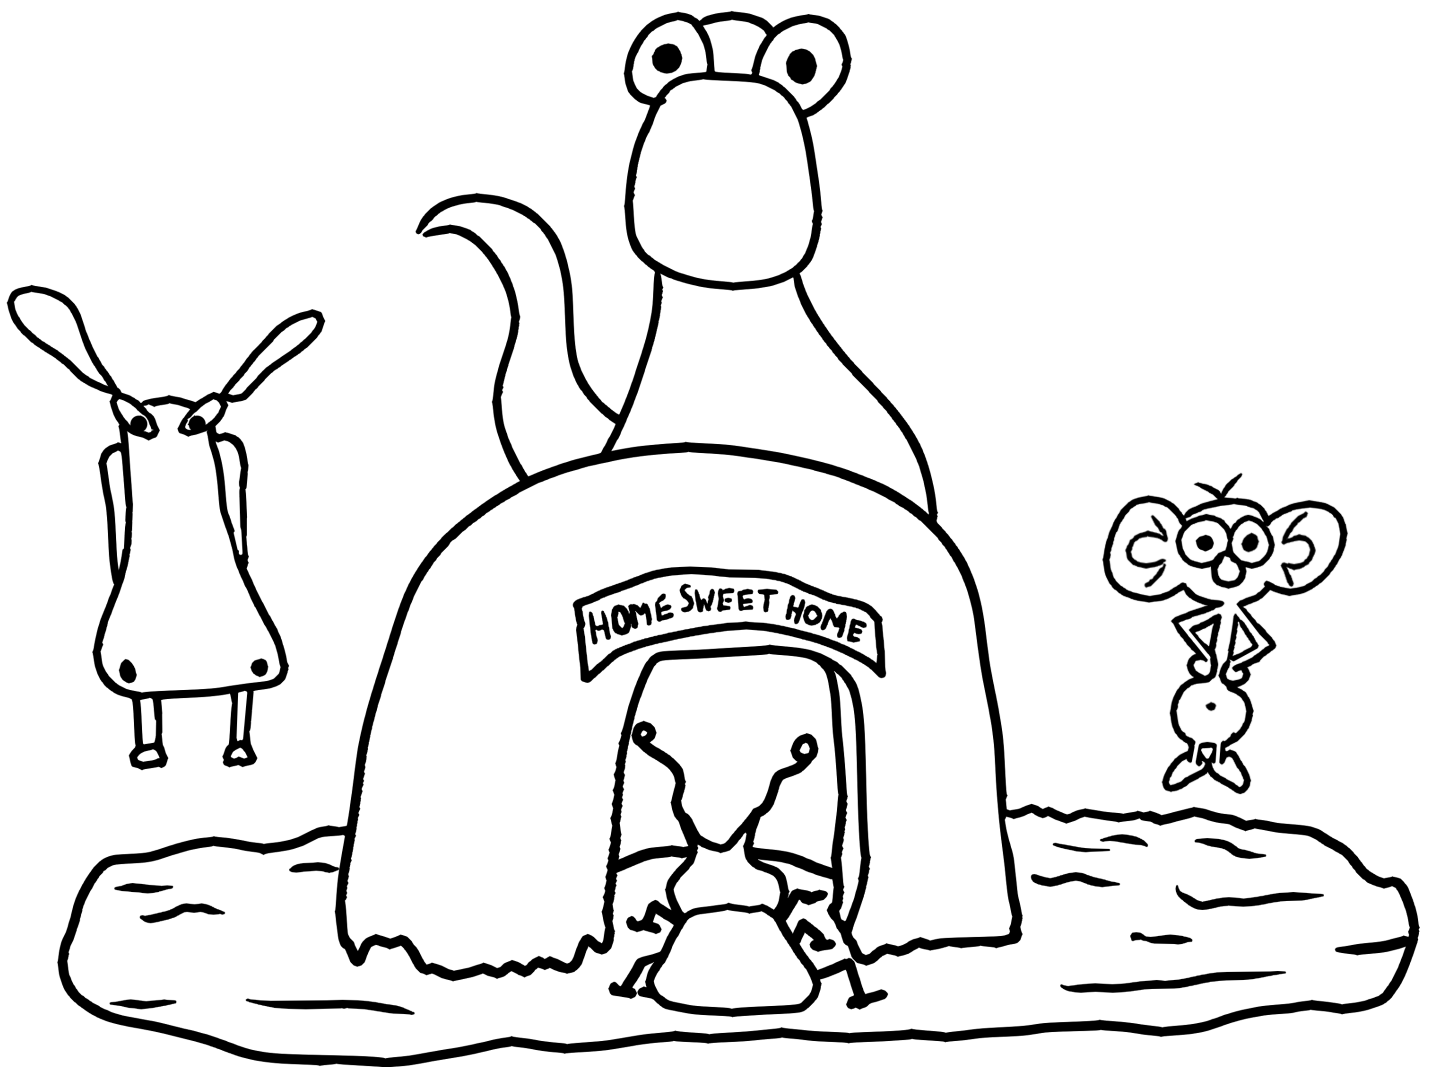

But as Rat The Cat made the mud hut, up came a big, big bug! It was a mud-hole bug! "Ugggh!" said Rat. "A big mud-hole bug!"

Rat can run, and Rat ran. But the sun was too hot. The sun made the mud on Rat The Cat dry. Rat was stuck. Stuck like a pig in a poke.

Up came the big mud-hole bug.
The mud bug had a water gun.
"That cat is a nut," said the mud-hole bug. Then the mud bug shot Rat with the water gun. Rat The Cat was stuck no more!

The big mud-hole bug liked the mud hut.

"I can make the mud hut my home," said the mud bug.

So the big mud bug made her home in the mud hut.

Rat dug more and more mud holes. He dug and dug and dug. But Dan came, and Dan did not like the mud holes. Dan was angry, angry angry!

Rat The Cat did not like the tub, but he had to be in it.
Too bad Rat!
